FOREWORD

The purpose of the staff in preparing this, the 1945 AURORA, is to create a pictorial account of our varied interests and activities and to help you relive the highlights and happy experiences of the year. We hope you will find in the following pages something of the spirit that is Bridgewater High School. If this annual helps you appreciate your school more fully, we, the staff, feel that our work has been well rewarded.

IN MEMORIAM

To those Bridgewater High School graduates and students who made the supreme sacrifice on far-flung battle-fields go these, our vows: That we wholly believe they have not died in vain and that we will strive to the utmost of our ability to uphold the cause for which they so gallantly gave their lives.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

The theme "Bridgewater Spirit" which has been used throughout this Volume of AURORA is a happy selection. The production of an annual year after year is a means in itself of developing that spirit and in keeping it active in the lives of those who come and go from this school.

Schools in many respects are much alike. Buildings are substantially the same. Classrooms and furnishings often differ little. In many cases text books and courses are identical. Libraries shelve the same volumes and laboratories contain the same equipment. And yet, schools are different.

Schools are all different. Around every school certain forces are at work and certain attitudes prevail. These attitudes become fixed. Different procedures become habitual. Activities develop into tradition. From within a spirit is born. A school takes on character and personality. Around it grows a spirit and atmosphere all its own. Just so has Bridgewater, as well as every other school, become different and distinctive.

What is Bridgewater Spirit? First of all, a spirit of respect; "we praise thy name." It is a spirit of unity; "all in our happy throng." It is the esprit de corps; "we rally to thy standards true." It is a living spirit; "to Bridgewater ever more." And last, it is a spirit of loyalty; "we will fore'er be true."

Much of time, money and effort has been given to the production of this book. May it be a means of keeping the spirit of the school living and active in the lives of us all and especially in the lives of the members of the Class of 1945.

SENIORS IN SERVICE

Three members of our 1945 Senior Class were called to the service of their country before they had completed their work at B.H.S. These are from left to right as pictured below, Weldon Click, Reginald (Reggie) Oliver, Charles (Snap) Simmers.

Weldon's home is in Spring Creek. He was home on furlough in October and able to rejoin the class for the senior outing.

"Reggie" lived in Bridgewater until recently when his parents moved to Edinburg. We were glad that he could visit the school when he was on leave sometime in the fall.

"Snap" comes from North River. We were all glad to see him when he was home on furlough last year. He has been in service a little over a year and is now serving in the South Pacific where he has been stationed for the past seven months.

WELDON CLICK

Entered service—February, 1944.
Received basic training at Keesler Field, Miss.

REGINALD OLIVER

Entered service—September, 1944
Received boot training at Bainbridge, Md.

CHARLES SIMMERS

Entered service—November, 1943
Received boot training at Sampson, N. Y.

CLASS

We, the 1945 Senior Class of Bridgewater High School, Bridgewater, Virginia, being of sound mind and body, and realizing that we are leaving from said place, never to return as seniors again, and desiring to leave some few remembrances, do here ordain and establish our last will and testament, revoking and making void any wills made heretofore by us.

We do jointly will and bequeath:

1. To the Junior Class our dignity and exclusive senior privileges, including that of graduating.
2. To the Sophomore Class our sense of humor.
3. To the Freshman Class our "good grades?" and qualities of perseverance.

Our individual bequeaths are:

I, Robert Anderson, will my glasses to Mr. Koogler, so he can keep a close watch on the Senior Class of 1946.

I, Betty Jo Armstrong, will my dark hair to Betty Miller.

We, Barbara Dove and Peggy Toderoff, will our position as co-editors on the annual to any junior who is willing to slave over the task as we have.

I, Evelyn Edmonson, will my artistic ability to the art editor of the AURORA of 1946.

I, Dawn Glick, will my dignity to Eleanor Jean Rhodes.

I, Lorraine Head, will my diamond to my daughter twenty-five years from now, providing she will wear it as long as I have.

I, Carolyn Henry, will my slimness to Mildred Myers.

I, Clearine Kyger, will my curly black hair to Murray Harvey.

I, Vera Lambert, will my ability to play softball to Edna Wright.

I, Harold McNett, will my position on the basketball team to Herbie Mongold providing he helps beat Dayton next year.

I, Gareth Miller, will my political ideals to the Democratic Party.

I, Lowell Miller, will my years at B.H.S. to Boone Glasgow, providing he will use them profitably.

I, Nancy Parks, will my position as editor of the School Chatter to Elaine Skelton, providing she works at it as hard as I have.

I, Ellen Patterson, will my neat hair and black comb to Erva Hassler, providing she uses them as I have.

I, Alice Rhodes, will my will to the Junior Class, so that they may have one next year.

I, Audrey Rhodes, will my love for Reitta Roberts to her future husband.

WILL

I, Alice Revercomb, will my shyness to Dot Quick.

I, Reitta Roberts, will my width and length to Jean Atkins and she may distribute it as she wishes.

I, Fleta Rodeffer, will my smiles to the oncoming Senior Class so that they may radiate happiness throughout B.H.S. next year.

I, Ikie Riddleberger, will my boldness to Stanley Wine, providing he uses it to get dates as I have.

I, Phyllis Rosenberger, will my small steps to Lucille Jordan.

I, Donald Senger, will my excess height to Joe Bowman.

I, Goldie Shank, will my wit to Mary Frances Wright.

I, Polly Shaver, will my red hair to Mary Rose Ponton, so that she may have an increased supply.

I, Phyllis Shickel, will my place in the Craun family to anyone who can hold it as long as I have.

I, Robert Skinner, will my mischievous ways to Shelton Rogers in order to make him more tormenting.

I, Erma Smith, will my shorthand tablet to Roscoe Fix, and I know he will appreciate it.

I, Stanford Spitler, will my way with women to Dwight McNett providing he uses it to captivate admirers as I have.

I, Valley Swartz, will my methods of flirting to Eloise Edmonson, so that she can put in double time.

I, Charlotte Stearn, will my long legs to Barbara Gainer.

I, Eddie Thomas, will my pessimistic ways to Melvin Will, the optimist.

I, Jean Trobaugh, will my small feet to Betty Dedrick, and I hope she can get shoes for them.

I, Bernice Turk, will my flow of letters from Washington to any deserving female.

I, Mazie Wheeler, will my disinterest in school to May Caricofe.

I, Jacqueline Wine, will my nickname of "Jackie" to Jack Gills.

I, Mary Ethel Wine, will my "A's" to Freddie Rhodes.

I, Janet Winegard, will my love of talking to Minor Beverage.

I, Audrey Yeakle, will my dislike for boys to Elaine Frye.

I, Nelson Wine, will my cute ways to Pat Beckwith.

I, Donald Wright, will my eagle eyes to Betty Furry so she can keep a close watch on Harrisonburg.

Given under our hand and seal this 1st day of June, 1945.

SENIOR CLASS

The night was as still as death and pitch black. Feeling my way from tree to tree was the only possible way I could traverse the dense foliage of the "Haunted Forest" at mid-night.

Every now and then a moon-beam sifted down through the tree-tops; but even this was frightening, for it changed every bush into a lurking, blood-thirsty beast.

"It can't be far now," I thought. "The camp of that witch should be around here some place. Gee, here I am—risking my life to learn the futures of seniors of 1945 so I can write their prophecy. Look! There's the witch I'm seeking. What a horrible looking thing she is with that zombie expression, flowing grey hair, and hunched back. Oh cow, I believe I'll go home. I'm so scared!"

The next thing I knew, a bony finger beckoned me into the red circle of light from the fire. Picking up a ladle this immortal creature began stirring a brew which boiled briskly over the raging fire beneath the black kettle.

"Boil brew, boil," I heard a cackling voice sing in a hardly audible whisper. "Boil snakes' tongues, ducks' blood. Boil frogs' hearts, and children's eyes. Boil, boil, and reveal the future of those bodies that shall be added to your content."

That was my cue. With exaggerated ceremony I dropped a hair from each of the forty-one seniors into the sizzling caldron and stepped back for results.

Out of insane steam and bubbling mass of death, rose the figure of a prominent actor and vocalist. Surpassing even Sinatra of today, Ikie Riddleberger had conquered the hearts of everyone from seven-year-old Sue to eighty-five-year-old Miss Crow.

Recovering from my swoon I saw that Ikie's laughing face had been replaced in the caldron by that of grim, determined Clearine Kyger. She was head nurse at the Los Angeles Hospital and Stanford Spittler, well-known surgeon, was supervising young internes at the same hospital.

The next scene was closer home. There on Collicello Street in Harrisonburg were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tucker swinging on their front porch. She was Nancy Parks in '45. Remember?

Barbara Dove filled all my expectations, for the brew revealed her as guest pianist with the Philharmonic Orchestra of Philadelphia.

PROPHECY

When Polly Shaver, sweeping around little hills, appeared, I nearly had conniptions. My laughter was soon replaced by tears, however, when I saw Jackie Wine, a returned missionary, visiting a dying friend she had converted in Japan. Making the patient as comfortable as possible were two white-clad nurses, Jean Trobaugh, and Audrey Yeakle.

Next, Robert Anderson, manager of the finest wheat farm in the Red River Valley of North Dakota, appeared. He was one of those prosperous men with a bay window and bald head.

Newly elected President of the U. S., Gareth Miller, was holding a conference with his cabinet members in the next scene. Among them were Secretary of State, Donald Senger, and Vice-President, Edward Thomas.

With her brown tresses flying as she braved gangster gun-fire, Peggy Toderoff was risking her life again to get a scoop for the New York Times.

The boiling steam pictured the Griffith's Stadium in Washington. On the mound at the huge baseball park was Harold McNett, the Senators' best pitcher since Walter Johnson.

In her beautiful home overlooking the ocean, Dawn Glick was being hostess to her millionaire-husband's business friends.

I was quite startled to see the society page of the Daily News Forecast appear. But no wonder, for (of all things) there was the announcement of the marriage of Phyllis Shickel and Stanley Craun.

Evidently the witch's brew thought I needed to get that "old time religion," for a large cathedral in Rome, Italy, flashed before me. I was overjoyed, however, to see Lowell Miller as pastor and Mary Ethel Wine chief organist of the church.

Gee, golly, but some girls are lucky! At least Fleta Rodeffer is, for the brew revealed her having a wonderful time in Hollywood, California, with her favorite movie star.

Three other lucky girls are Erma Smith, Carolyn Henry, and Lorraine Head, for I saw them hard at work at their chosen vocation, keeping house for two.

Above the crackling fire and sizzling snakes I heard Ellen Patterson counting "1, 2, 3, 4," to the tune of the deep knee bend. Reason? She was the head of a training school for Physical Education Directors.

Again New York City appeared, but this time it was a swank shop on Fifth Avenue where Evelyn Edmonson and Valley Swartz reigned as dress designers. Betty Joe Armstrong, a doctor's wife, came in to have a dinner gown designed for her. Before I could ask who the lucky doctor was, the scene of a girls' basketball game appeared. What do you know! It was the Alumni of B.H.S. playing a winning game with the Varsity team of Mary Washington College. Among the Alumni were Charlotte Stearn, Phyllis Rosenberger, and Goldie Shank. Nelson Wine was leading an enthusiastic Bridgewater crowd in "Two-Bits."

It was quite a surprise to see Alice Rhodes teaching kindergarten, but Donald Wright, now a world-famous transport pilot, explaining the fundamentals of aviation to his pretty wife, seemed to be the usual thing.

The overwhelming smell of the brew about got me at this point. However, I recovered in time to see Alice Revercomb an employee in one of America's most widely known beauty shops, Pearl's.

Having graduated from a teacher's college, there was Reitta Roberts in charge of typing classes at our own B.H.S. Time!

Keeping up with local gossip by being a typist at Western Union was Vera Lambert. It looks as if her ambition has been fulfilled.

Cute singer, Audrey Lee Rhodes, was starring with Hal Kemp's Orchestra at the Coconut Grove in Hollywood. By actual count, fourteen men were carried out when they fainted at the sound of her magnetic voice.

Mazie Wheeler, Janet Winegard, and Bernice Turk next appeared working in the clothing department of Sears Roebuck and Company in Chicago.

And last, but not least, the everlessening steam pictured Bobbie Skinner in resplendent blue uniform with brass buttons directing traffic to the Capitol in Washington.

That was all. The futures of 1945 seniors had been revealed, so I crossed the witch's palm with silver and, deep in memories of scenes I had just witnessed, made my way toward home and out of the "Haunted Forest."

SOPHOMORES, OH, SOPHOMORES

Crimson and gold, they are for me
 Sophomores, oh, Sophomores!
And those colors, yes they will be
 Sophomores, oh, Sophomores!
Our motto is "Sink or Swim,"
Our flower is the fragrant rose,
By these three things, we'll strive to win
 Victory, oh, Sophomores!

And we'll not stop when we are just
 Sophomores, oh, Sophomores!
Until we're seniors; yes, we must Struggle on, oh, Sophomores!
"And after that," of us you'll ask,
"What will you live and strive for then?"
Our right to live and fill the task
 Meant for us, oh, Sophomores!

SALMAGUNDI CLUB

The Salmagundi Club was organized in an effort to uncover hidden talent in our student body. The first meeting was held on December 13, 1944 at which time officers were elected. The club was first called The Blue Literary Society in order to distinguish it from the other literary club. Later on, however, the name "Salmagundi Club" was chosen by a vote of the members.

Many varied programs have been given by this club. Speeches, jokes, music, plays, and any number of other things have helped make up the programs. Members have shown great interest in their work which is deeply appreciated by the club officers.

JIVE-KIDS

The Jive-Kids held their first meeting on December 13, 1944 and got off to a fine start by electing most capable officers.

For the first few meetings, the club was called the Red Literary Society, but the name was changed to Jive-Kids by a majority vote of the members.

Interesting programs were arranged by the program committee and were presented by various members of the club. Many students displayed unusual talent, which had been unknown before.

The officers wish to thank all who contributed to the success of the club in any way; to the teachers for their help in planning and their criticism of programs, and to the members of the club for their participation in the programs.

CHEER LEADERS

To add zip and zam to basketball games played during the winter months, five cheerleaders were elected by the student body. All were inexperienced at the time but soon were "leading out" to the rhythm of swelling vocal cords.

Copies of old and new yells were made and distributed to fans who usually came to the games. Soon, however, everyone knew each yell from "Rise and Shine . . ." to "Two-Bits."

The cheerleaders added new motions to the yells from observation of other cheerleaders, and from their own originality. They did everything from susy-quiring in "Have we got a team? . . ." to thumbing a ride on "Horse'n Wagon . . ."

With the addition of several peppy songs, the cheering section was complete. "See, Oh See," "Opponent the Wildcats Are After You Today," and "We're a Bunch of Raindrops" were favorites of the group.

The co-operation and support of each individual who helped make the cheering section a success is deeply appreciated by the cheerleaders. They thank you, everyone.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Elaine Frye, star player with the greatest number of points to her credit, has been with the team for the past three years. Nick-named "Shot-gun" because of her ability on the basketball court, fans depend on her to bring the team out on top.

Even though this is the first year Mary Lou Riddleberger has been on the team, she has made a wonderful showing playing forward. "Lou" is a hard-fighting, fair playing member of the squad.

Another forward ranking high in goals is Eloise Edmonson. One of our good players, this is "Skeeter's" first year on the varsity.

Goldie Shank, a small, red-headed guard, is very fast and is known for getting that ball away from the opponent's basket.

Jacqueline Wine, a fighting player, can really guard any girl trying to score over B.H.S.

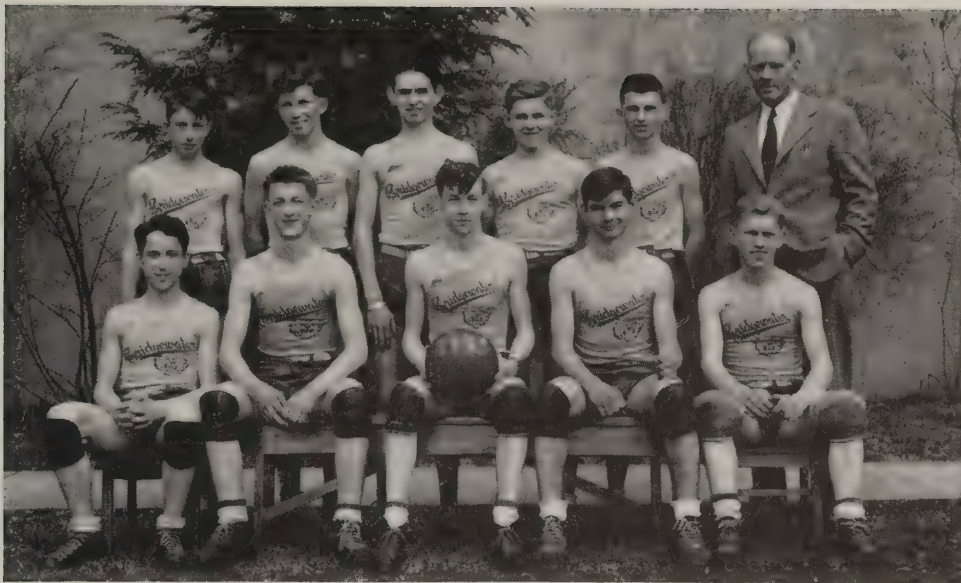

Another important guard is Charlotte Stearn, who played on the varsity last year and was elected manager of the team this year. She is our tallest player and proud of it, too.

Phyllis Rosenberger, a small blonde, has played on the team two years. She is an accurate shot, and a hard fighter.

Evelyn Edmonson, utility player, plays either forward or guard and does well in either position.

Valley Swartz, forward, has been a member of the team for two years and can be depended upon when she enters a game.

Gladys Bowman, a smooth working guard, many times has kept the opposing forwards from scoring.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Stanford Spitler, center, has been on the squad four years. With Spitler playing center, the team this year has been built around him.

Murray Harvey, forward, has been a valuable player on the team. He usually starts as forward, but can be shifted to guard if need be.

Harold McNett, senior, played his first year of basketball. He is a mainstay at guard and usually comes out of a game with some points to his credit.

Thomas Click, forward, played his first year of varsity ball. Tom is a sophomore and the school is expecting two more big years on the court for him.

George Graham, guard, has done a good job intercepting passes and starting the ball up the court toward the goal.

Stanley Craun, forward, has been a squad member for three years. He will probably enter service before another ball season.

Dennis Wright, utility, was a newcomer to the squad this year. He is a junior and will be called upon for basketball again next year.

Melvin Will, utility, has worked hard this year. He is a sophomore and will have several more seasons on the hardwood court.

Alfred Kenny, rangy forward, was a squad member for the first time. He is a promising player for next season.

Paul Garst, forward, is a freshman. His rangy build and skill at handling the ball promises much for our team in coming years.
